PRESS RELEASE

Partnership protocol between DODONI S.A. and the Ioannina Milk Institute

It concerns the developments of innovative products and highlights the company's commitment to the local community of Epirus

In the framework of developing new products through scientific research and innovation, combined with the tradition and the high quality DODONI has been guaranteeing for the past 50 years, the company Management signed a partnership protocol with the Greek Agricultural Organization DIMITRA.

DODONI will fully finance a research and development program for new dairy products, which will be implemented by the Ioannina Milk Institute of the Agricultural Organization DIMITRA. The duration of the program will be 21 months and upon its termination all findings & results shall be submitted to the dairy company.

DODONI, following its commitment to the local community of Epirus, decided to sign this partnership and award this program to a local organization, the Ioannina Milk Institute, thus strengthening its operation and activities. The company acknowledges the longstanding educational and research work of this Institute and its significant contribution to the Greek milk industry and the traditional dairy sector in the past 25 years.

Mr. Michalis Panagiotakis, DODONI Deputy CEO made the following statement:

"In DODONI we emphasize on innovation and the further development of our company, through creating new products and making the local community of Epirus our priority. In this framework, we strive to partner with and support acknowledged research institutions of the wider area. We are very pleased with the partnership with the Ioannina Milk Institute and are looking forward to the program findings."
